6. WORKING CONDITIONS

List the unavoidable, externally imposed conditions under which the work must be performed and which create hardship for the incumbent. Express frequency, duration and intensity of occurrence of physical demands, environmental conditions, demands on one's senses and mental demands.

Physical Demands

Indicate the nature of physical demands and the frequency and duration of occurrences leading to physical fatigue.

- The incumbent will experience moderate physical fatigue or physical stress as he/she will be expected to perform their duties with minimal supervision. This increases the stress level as in addition to the situational demands; the incumbent must ensure he/she is operating within policy and legislative guidelines.
- The Community Health Nurse operates in a stress filled environment as health care emergencies are frequent.
- The fact that, once decisions are made, based upon the information at hand at the time; additional information may make the decision appear faulty, opening the worker or supervisor to criticism. Given the nature and confidentiality of our work neither can explain publicly why decisions were made or what they were based upon.

Environmental Conditions

Indicate the nature of adverse environmental conditions to which the jobholder is exposed, and the frequency and duration of exposures. Include conditions that disrupt regular work schedules and travel requirements.

- The incumbent will experience considerable physical discomfort or moderate risk of accident or ill health as he/she will occasionally be required to carry a variety of equipment and materials.
- Some travel will also cause additional stress as the weather conditions will often be harsh.
- Weather conditions are harsh over winter and cause transportation difficulties to and from work and home during regular hours and on-call emergencies

Sensory Demands

Indicate the nature of demands on the jobholder's senses to make judgments through touch, smell, sight and hearing, and judge speed and accuracy.

- The incumbent will have to have considerable sensory attention as it is expected that the incumbent will be able to diagnose his/her patient's with the help of his/her peers and the designated physician.
- The incumbent's attention and exposure to the following will also require considerable sensory attention:
 - Exposure to blood and body fluids – risk can be minimized through use of universal precautions
 - Exposure to animal attacks while on home visits
 - Exposure to emotionally difficult or potentially violent situations at clinic or on home visits
 - Exposure to clients with contagious conditions - risk can be minimized by maintaining immunization status and using infection control measures.
 - Exposure to hazardous substances – risk can be minimized with application of WHMIS knowledge.

Mental DemandsIndicate conditions that may lead to mental or emotional fatigue.

- The need to act and react rapidly, in a focused and well-informed manner is mandatory in this position. The incumbent spends a significant amount of time counseling. This requires excellent communication and facilitation skills. The incumbent spends time at computer writing, reviewing materials, conducting research and communicating with staff, which can result in eyestrain and other physical discomforts.
- The incumbent is exposed to competing priorities and demands. Dealing with various clients requires creativity, tact and diplomacy. All of which will lead to extreme mental stress.
